July, 2011

Monica Salis opened her house to the Club on July 3rd for a party she was having. It looks like the mixing of her friends and our Club went well.

It should be noted that Monica supplied EVERYTHING for this party. She was gracious enough to open her home to us. It sure looks that everyone had enough to eat and drink. Did I mention all the FOOD!!! THANKS Monica

Leslie Rambin 's held a Texas Luau on July 23rd. Barbeque, Boots, Beer & Bikinis. At her Beautiful Home we swam in the pool, sat in the hottub and ate ourselves ... well I won't go there. DJ Rich supplied the music, and a good time was again had by our Club. THANKS Leslie.

Do You Know What Drowning Really Looks Like?

By Mario Vittone

The new captain jumped from the deck, fully dressed, and sprinted through the water. A former lifeguard, he kept his eyes on his victim as he headed straight for the couple swimming between their anchored sportfisher and the beach. "I think he thinks you're drowning," the husband said to his wife. They had been splashing each other and she had screamed but now they were just standing, neck-deep on the sand bar. "We're fine, what is he doing?" she asked, a little annoyed. "We're fine!" the husband yelled, waving him off, but his captain kept swimming hard. "Move!" he barked as he sprinted between the stunned owners. Directly behind them, not ten feet away, their nine-year-old daughter was drowning. Safely above the surface in the arms of the captain, she burst into tears, "Daddy!"

How did this captain know - from fifty feet away - what the father couldn't recognize from just ten? Drowning is not the violent, splashing, call for help that most people expect. The captain was trained to recognize drowning by experts and years of experience. The father, on the other hand, had learned what drowning looks like by watching television. If you spend time on or near the water (hint: that's all of us) then you should make sure that you and your crew know what to look for whenever people enter the water. Until she cried a tearful, "Daddy," she hadn't made a sound. As a former Coast Guard rescue swimmer, I wasn't surprised at all by this story. Drowning is almost always a deceptively quiet event. The waving, splashing, and yelling that dramatic conditioning (television) prepares us to look for, is rarely seen in real life.

The Instinctive Drowning Response - so named by Francesco A. Pia, Ph.D., is what people do to avoid actual or perceived suffocation in the water. And it does not look like most people expect. There is very little splashing, no waving, and no yelling or calls for help of any kind. To get an idea of just how quiet and undramatic from the surface drowning can be, consider this: It is the number two cause of accidental death in children, age 15 and under (just behind vehicle accidents) - of the approximately 750 children who will drown next year, about 375 of them will do so within 25 yards of a parent or other adult. In ten percent of those drownings, the adult will actually watch them do it, having no idea it is happening (source: CDC). Drowning does not look like drowning - Dr. Pia, in an article in the Coast Guard's On Scene Magazine, described the instinctive drowning response like this:

1. Except in rare circumstances, drowning people are physiologically unable to call out for help. The respiratory system was designed for breathing. Speech is the secondary or overlaid function. Breathing must be fulfilled before speech occurs.

2. Drowning people's mouths alternately sink below and reappear above the surface of the water. The mouths of drowning people are not above the surface of the water long enough for them to exhale, inhale, and call out for help. When drowning people's mouths are above the surface, they exhale and inhale quickly as their mouths start to sink below the surface of the water.

3. Drowning people cannot wave for help. Nature instinctively forces them to extend their arms laterally and press down on the water's surface. Pressing down on the surface of the water permits drowning people to leverage their bodies so they can lift their mouths out of the water to breathe. 4. Throughout the Instinctive Drowning Response, drowning people cannot voluntarily control their arm movements. Physiologically, drowning people who are struggling on the surface of the water cannot stop drowning and perform voluntary movements such as waving for help, moving toward a rescuer, or reaching out for a piece of rescue equipment.

5. From beginning to end of the Instinctive Drowning Response people's bodies remain upright in the water, with no evidence of a supporting kick. Unless rescued by a trained lifeguard, these drowning people can only struggle on the surface of the water from 20 to 60 seconds before submersion occurs.

This doesn't mean that a person that is yelling for help and thrashing isn't in real trouble - they are experiencing aquatic distress. Not always present before the instinctive drowning response, aquatic distress doesn't last long - but unlike true drowning, these victims can still assist in their own rescue. They can grab lifelines, throw rings, etc.

Look for these other signs of drowning when persons are in the water:

- Head low in the water, mouth at water level
- Head tilted back with mouth open
- Eyes glassy and empty, unable to focus
- Eyes closed
- · Hair over forehead or eyes
- Not using legs Vertical
- Hyperventilating or gasping
- Trying to swim in a particular direction but not making headway
- Trying to roll over on the back
- Appear to be climbing an invisible ladder

So if a crew member falls overboard and everything looks OK, don't be too sure. Sometimes the most common indication that someone is drowning is that they don't look like they're drowning. They may just look like they are treading water and looking up at the deck. One way to be sure? Ask them, "Are you alright?" If they can answer at all, they probably are. If they return a blank stare, you may have less than 30 seconds to get to them. And parents: children playing in the water make noise. When they get quiet, you get to them and find out why.

2011 Holiday Party

After much work and lots of help from some members, we have finally found the perfect place for our 2011 Holiday Party! This year we will be cruising along the Intercoastal for several hours dining on a delicious buffet dinner and dancing to Rich's music aboard Anticipation IV.

A Cash Bar will be available. This lovely event will be Black Tie Optional.

Cost for members will be $50.00 and for guests, $60.00. This reflects only a $10 upgrade from last year's Downtowner charge and should offer us a wonderful preface into the Holiday Season.

Tickets are available at the Business Meeting. Each ticket will be numbered and will correspond directly to the person who purchased it. Please make sure that you put this ticket in a place where it can be readily accessed, as you will have to present it that evening in order to board. (NO Exceptions to this, please!)

Tickets will be sold on a first come, first served basis. We have printed 100 tickets, so please don't wait until the last minute to purchase yours as they may be gone, and you will not want to miss out on this wonderful evening!! There are only 35 tickets left, so ...

Volunteers

We know we ask a lot for volunteers and we ask a lot of them. They don't get much recognition during the year, just applause and a gift at the Change of Command. But we do want them to know they are appreciated for all the hard work they do. The organizing and setting up and cleaning up don't just happen; it takes LOTs of work to keep things running smoothly.

This is a reminder for all but especially for those who weren't present at the last Business Meeting.

1. Please RSVP, especially when events are being held in someone's home, at least 4 days before the party. A headcount is usually a good thing for the host/hostess and set up volunteers to have.

2. Although the volunteer cleanup crew is doing an amazing job, cleaning up after ourselves (empty cups, dishes, etc.) should be each of our individual responsibility. We are all equal members of this club and no one should be picking up after anyone else. Please help!

3. Please be patient with and pleasant to the bartenders at Pirate's Republic. We will try to have them provide more than one, but it's a lot of work for only one person to handle the demands of our "very thirsty" members! And don't forget to tip them.

4. And lastly, all Guests must come with a Member. There is a$5.00 fee for Guests. Members who are accompanied by Guests, please approach either Max or myself at functions and provide the $5.00 fee without having to be asked. It will make things easier for all of us. Thanks, Marie, Social Director
